MAKES BITTER ATTACK ON PRESIDENT GOMPERS

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, Jan. 18.—A sharp attack on President Gompers of the American Labor Federation was made today in the senate today by Senator Heyburn, of Idaho, who protested that the communication from Gompers should not be received by the senate. He said no communication should be accepted from that source after disclosures made in McNamara case.

THERE WAS METHOD IN THE EASTERN SELECTION.

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, Jan. 18.—Democratic and Republican leaders in the house today agreed there is little likelihood that congress will adjourn before August. It was said this has probably influenced democrats in choosing Baltimore as the convention city. Republicans will have awkward situation holding convention in Chicago with congress in session.

WOMAN SICK TWELVE YEARS

Wants Other Women to Know
How She Was Finally Restored to Health.

Louisiana, Mo.:—"I think a woman naturally dislikes to make her troubles known to the public, but complete restoration to health means so much to me that I cannot keep from telling mine for the sake of other suffering women."

"I had been sick about twelve years, and had eleven doctors. I had dragging down pains, pains at monthly periods, bilious spells, and was getting worse all the time. I would hardly get over one spell when I would be sick again. No tongue can tell what I suffered from cramps, and at times I could hardly walk. The doctors said I might die at one of those times, but I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got better right away. Your valuable medicine is more than mountains of gold to suffering women."

"Mrs. BERTHA MUFF, 503 N. 4th Street, Louisiana, Mo.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from natural roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact."

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

AMONG THE WOMEN

The Visitor
Guess who came this way last night—
Little Curly Head—
Came this way, while you lay curled
Snuggly in your bed.

Came this way, I know he did,
In the silent night,
Left a message written large,
All in snowy white.

Fern leaves, dainty grasses, too;
Misses intertwined,
While with fairy markings faint,
Is the picture signed.

Thought the night is cold, it says,
Little Curly Head,
Flowers and ferns are fast asleep,
In earth's nice warm bed.

Now, you know you Curly Head
That Jack Frost was here,
For upon the window pane
It is written clear.

Opposes Daylight Dancing

Mrs. John B. Henderson, of Washington, formerly of Missouri, is to wage a campaign against the practice of daylight dancing. She thinks that dancing should begin early in the evening and close by midnight. The draper ball masque, given recently in Washington, did not begin until nearly 12 o'clock. It was not half over by 2 o'clock.

School for Brides

An addition to the Margaret Morrison Carnegie school for women at Pittsburgh will be a school for brides, where young married women can learn all about keeping house without all its interfering with their own money.

Candidate For FIRST LADY OF THE LAND

Special to the Daily Leader.
Washington, Jan. 18.—Among candidates for the exalted station of "first lady of the land" (for the 1913-17 term) there are eight American women who now loom upon the political horizon as "possibilities." This does not include Mrs. Taft, who is now the "first lady" and whose character, attainments and charming personality are so well known that extended reference to them here would be superfluous.

All of these ladies, like Mrs. Taft, are women of great culture. An appreciable share of their husband's chances for success in the race for the presidential nomination depends upon their own tact, diplomacy and charm. The lofty rank to which their husbands wish to elevate them is not reached entirely through the accident of marriage.

A vast source of many a great man's power is the virtuous, contented and industrious consort who quickens his idealism and reflects upon him that peace, tranquillity and calm which oils the wheels of effort. The most sordid and banal of practical politicians will admit the priceless value of a Dolly Madison or a Frances Cleveland as an asset to the presidential candidate.

A FORMER SCHOOL MISTRESS

If there is magic in being a "school child," Mrs. Champ Clark, the clever and witty wife of the speaker, is possessed of esoteric powers. She was reared upon the farm of her father, Joseph D. Bennett, of Callaway county, Mo., and received her early education from her sister, who was teacher at the neighboring school house. She confesses to having grown up as a "rather bookish" young woman, and this was in the days before her marriage, when she shared her sister's cupping and, like Mrs. Taft, taught school for a time.

In a neighboring town a young man then known as James Beauchamp Clark (but who has since amputated his first name and mutilated his second name) was also engaged in teaching school, practicing law and running a newspaper.

They were married thirty-one years ago, at which time the future speaker began to run for congress. Mrs. Clark, like Mrs. Wilson, has been a writer. Until her husband became conspicuous in public affairs, she contributed to the newspapers and magazines, and at the same time cared for her babies and became an authority on fine cooking—some so high indeed, that her recipes for delicacies are now in wide demand. At her rambling country home, Honewick, at Bowling Green, Mo., she dispenses hospitality throughout the summer months to her husband's political friends from far and near, and this sort of entertaining is a test of any wife's tact and social endurance. From the same state as Clark comes another presidential aspirant in the person of Joseph W. Folk. Mrs. Folk is not a society woman in the ordinary sense of the word, but finds her greatest pleasure in music, she having been an officer of the Morning Choral club of St. Louis, or which she is now and has been for many years a director. When in St. Louis Mrs. Folk never misses a rehearsal and takes much interest in the board meetings, at which she is always an adviser, whose opinion is much respected. Next to her work in the musical club Mrs. Folk finds great interest in church and charity work. She is one of the workers each year for the success of the Baptist Orphan's Home entertainment and is a member of the board of that institution, besides taking a part in other church work. Having no children of her own Mrs. Folk is keenly alive to the needs of the children of the poor and can always be counted on for efficient help in this direction. In domestic duties. The course begins with boiling eggs and extends to the highest plane of pastries, besides millinery, dressmaking and so on. Every student must be at least 21, and it is said many of the young married women of Pittsburgh have taken advantage of the proposed course and had their names enrolled.

Under A New Name

Mrs. Frank Ambler Patterson, of Colonia, N. J., who takes such an interest in domestic science work, says that any woman of average intelligence can put her housekeeping on a plane of success and do it by herself. A woman has achieved domestic independence, she says, when she knows her business of housekeeping in every detail. She would like to see the old-fashioned "keeping house" give way to "domestic engineering."

Teaches About Trusts

Miss Hazel Kyrk has a class of women students at Wellesley on the subject of trusts and industrial corporations. She is said to be the first woman who has ever attempted to teach such subjects. Each of her students investigates some trust or corporation and gets all the available data connected with it. She aims to make all the work as practical as possible.

Aids Animal League

Mrs. Russell Sage gave $10,000 last week to Mrs. James Speyer to promote the work of the New York Women's League for Animals, of which Mrs. Speyer is president. Mrs. Sage is never found wanting when a worthy cause presents itself to her, asking for her money.

Candidate For FIRST LADY OF THE LAND

her own quiet way Mrs. Folk enters quite a great deal and when she was the first lady of Missouri, as wife of the governor, her receptions were most popular. She has tastes very much like those of Mrs. Taft and music played a great part in the entertaining at Jefferson City during Mr. Folk's administration. Mrs. Folk organized a choral club there that gave numerous entertainments. St. Louis friends responding to invitations with much pleasure. Mrs. Folk is a very beautiful woman, of gentle, refined manners, and presided at all official functions as the wife of the governor of the state with grace and dignity.

Danderine

Makes your hair grow long, heavy and luxuriant and we can prove it

Get a 25 Cent Bottle Now and Forever Stop Falling Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff

Hair Becomes Soft, Fluffy, Lustrous and Abundant After a Danderine Hair Cleanse

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. It at once imparts a sparkling brilliancy and velvety softness to the hair, and a few weeks' use will cause new hair to sprout all over the scalp. Use it every day for a short time, after which two or three times a week will be sufficient to complete whatever growth you desire.

Immediately after applying a little Danderine all dandruff will disappear, all itching of the scalp will cease and there will be no more loose or falling hair.

If you wish to double the beauty of your hair in ten minutes surely try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few moments your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

If you care for beautiful, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter—A real surprise awaits you.

measures relating to Governor Wilson's candidacy. Colonel Harvey stood toward Governor Wilson much as I had stood five and thirty years ago toward Mr. Tilden. This appeared to me. Colonel Harvey had brought the governor and myself together in his New Jersey home eighteen months ago, and as time passed had interested me in his ambitions. I was hoping at night to find in Governor Wilson another Tilden. In point of intellect and availability, I yet think Colonel Harvey made no mistake in his choice of a candidate; but the circumstance leading to the unfortunate parting of the ways between them leads me to doubt whether in character and temperament it may be merely in the habits of a lifetime—Governor Wilson is not rather a schoolmaster than a statesman.

I have from Colonel Harvey and Governor Wilson's statements, according to the memory of each, touching what did actually happen and was spoken on the occasion named. These do not materially differ. Nothing of a disagreeable kind—even of an unfriendly kind—passed during an interview of more than an hour. From the first however, there was a certain constraint in Governor Wilson's manner, the absence of the cordiality and candor which should mark hearty, confidential intercourse, intimating the existence of some adverse influence. His manner was antipathetic if not tyrannous. I did not take this to myself, but thought it related to Colonel Harvey, and when Colonel Harvey, apparently overcome by Governor Wilson's austerity, put the direct question to Governor Wilson whether the support of Harper's Weekly was going him an injustice and received from Governor Wilson the cold rejoinder that it was, I was both surprised and shocked.

"I had myself, as far back as last October, suggested to Governor Wilson that in view of his supposed environment, it might be well for Colonel Harvey to moderate somewhat the rather aggressive character of Harper's Weekly in the Wilson leadership. I am not sure that I had not said as much to Colonel Harvey himself; but that Governor Wilson, without the least show of expunction, should express, or yield to such an opinion, and permit Colonel Harvey to consider himself discharged from the position of trusted intimacy he had up to this moment held, left me little room to doubt that Governor Wilson is not a man who makes common cause with his political associates, or is deeply sensible of his political obligations; because it is but true and fair to say that, except for Colonel Harvey, he would not be in the running at all.

"Colonel Harvey was grievously wronged. He had been fighting Governor Wilson's battle for many years and had idealized his chief. Although I was given no reason to suppose myself included in the disfavor which had fallen upon Colonel Harvey, I experienced a sense of something very much like indignation, but on reflection I could not rid myself of the impression that Governor Wilson had been receiving letters from Kentucky written by enemies of mine who seek to use his name and fame to gain some ends of their own, warning against me, and that, to all intents, I sat in the same boat with Colonel Harvey.

"I am in receipt of Governor Wilson's agreement to the contrary. I wish this had reached me earlier. I have during three weeks of newspaper impertinence refused to print a word on the subject in the hope that no publicity might be required and that some understanding could be reached. I have reason to believe that Colonel Harvey withheld his statement for the same cause and with the same hope. It being no long-

THIRTY-EIGHT DROWNED IN WRECK

BRITISH STEAMER WHIPS
TO PIECES NEAR SCOT-LAND SHORE

(By Associated Press.)

Aberdeen, Scotland, Jan. 18.—The British steamer, Wistowhall, was wrecked today on the rocks off the Aberdeen shore. Thirty-eight members of the crew were drowned; thirty-five of them went down with the ship, the others clung to the wreckage but only two reached shore alive. Many small crafts were driven by high winds to the shore and numerous small ships have been wrecked. It is feared that the life loss will be great.

er possible to suppose the matters at issue, this full statement, which I make most reluctantly, seems useful to a full and impartial knowledge by the general public, but more especially by the mass and body of democrats who are so earnestly seeking a leader in the coming contest.
